

live it

[TO RENT, DIVINE]

Crib Notes

Photos by Steve Reed

“With a busy schedule and somewhat active social life, my apartment is my refuge from the world.”

— Beau Heyen

FOR SOME, FAITH IS A COMPLICATED JOURNEY OF EXPLORATION AND SELF-DISCOVERY. FOR APARTMENT DWELLERS, IT'S MUCH SIMPLER.

You've got a leaky toilet? No problem. You have faith that when you come home after work, it'll be fixed. And it usually is.

For Beau Heyen, Minister of Youth and Spiritual Formation for Cathedral of Hope, finding the right place to live was Serendipity. Quite literally. That's the name of his apartment community.

“Serendipity names all of their floor plans with very Zen names,” Heyen says as he describes his one-bedroom space. “Fittingly, my floor plan is known as Purpose. With a busy schedule and somewhat active social life, my apartment is my refuge from the world.”

Furnished with simple leather furniture, a rich color palette and bookshelves overflowing with resources in the fields of youth, education and ministry, Heyen sees his apartment as a place to renew his personal energy and enthusiasm for his work.

He also enjoys what he describes as a tranquil-yet-trendy environment with an emphasis on green living.

“Serendipity has an eco-friendly focus that is second to no other place I have ever visited,” he says. “The diversity of residents is also a big plus. I enjoy being surrounded by people of different ages, cultures and experiences that Serendipity has to offer.”

But as you'd expect from a minister, Heyen frequently opens up his home to others. Whether it's his regular “Books and Brunch” meetings on Saturdays or movie nights with a theological twist, he happily opens his doors to others.

Most of all, Heyen's apartment is a place of warmth, fellowship and inclusion. And, in the case of Serendipity, Zenliness is next to Godliness.

— Steven Lindsey

COUPON
FREE MOVE!
Restrictions Apply

COUPON
$100
CASH!
Voucher

moveforFREE.COM

Free Apartment Locating and Free Moving Services

Log on now!!! OR CALL TOLL FREE 877.532.3757